

VEIL OF SECRECY BEHIND U. S. NAVY LIFTED FURTHER

Messages Exchanged Between Sims and Wilson Revealed

GIVEN OUT BY DANIELS

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The veil of secrecy behind which the American navy operated during the war was lifted further today by Secretary Daniels.

Continuing his testimony before the senate committee investigating Rear Admiral Sims charges at the navy failed to co-operate with the allies, the secretary read a confidential cablegram sent to Admiral Sims at London on July 4, 1917, by President Wilson. In it the president told that in the presence of the maritime emergency the British Admiralty was "helpless almost to the point of panic," and asked the admiral to submit a report based on "independent thought of the whole situation, without regard to the judgment of anyone on that side of the water."

The cablegram, as presented by the secretary, follows:

"The admiralty was 'helpless almost to the point of panic' in the face of the submarine situation, the message said.

"Every plan we suggest they reject for some reason of prudence," Mr. Wilson added. "In my view this is not a time for hesitations but for boldness even to the cost of great losses."

In conclusion President Wilson asked Admiral Sims to advise him if he would give advice "if you were running a navy of your own."

Admiral Sims' reply, said Secretary Daniels, who presented the president's message in connection with his answer to Sims' charges against the navy department's conduct of the war, was a long telegram of generalities of what the British admiralty was doing.

President Wilson's message follows:

"From the beginning of the war, I have been greatly surprised at the failure of the British admiralty to use Great Britain's great naval superiority in an effective way. In the presence of the present submarine emergency they are helpless to the point of panic."

"Every plan we suggest they reject for some reason of prudence but for boldness, even at the cost of great losses."

"In most of your dispatches you have quite properly advised me of the sort of aid and co-operation desired from us by the admiralty. The trouble is that their plans and methods do not seem to be very efficacious."

"I am much obliged to you if you could report to me confidentially, exactly what the admiralty has been doing and what they have accomplished, and add to the report your own comments and suggestions based on an independent thought of the whole situation, without regard to judgments of any one on that side of the water."

"The admiralty was very slow to adopt the protection of convoys and it is not now, I judge, protecting convoys on an adequate scale within the danger zone, seeming to keep small craft with the grand fleet. The absence of craft for convoys is even more apparent on the French coast than on the English coast and in the channel. I do not see how the necessary military supplies and supplies of food and fuel oil could be delivered at British ports in any other way within the next few months than under adequate convoy. There will presently not be ships or tankers enough to our ship building plans may not begin to yield important results in less than 18 months."

"I believe that you will keep these instructions absolutely and strictly to yourself and that you will give me such advice as you were handling and you were running a navy of your own."

Sims' Message to Page

Admiral Sims' response, Mr. Daniels testified, was "a long telegram of generalities of what the British admiralty was doing." In his connection, Mr. Daniels read to the committee a personal letter from the admiral to Ambassador Page, at London, on August 1, 1917, which said in part:

"In this connection I have suggested to make a direct suggestion to the president, that he was much displeased with my reply to his cablegram; that it did not change his opinion at all; that he regarded me as owned by the admiralty as to pro-British that he seriously considered the advisability of replacing me by some other officer."

Admiral Sims' reply to the president also told of plans for a combined sea and land attack to turn the German right flank and cut off Zebruge as a provisioning base. Mr. Daniels said:

"That was the kind of 'bold and audacious' thing the president and the navy department had been urging from our entrance in the war," declared the secretary.

WOULD ELIMINATE MANY UNNECESSARY STATE ELECTION DAYS

Draft Presented to Con Con Delegates by Suffrage Committee

SPRINGFIELD, May 12.—A modification of the proposal submitted to the Illinois constitutional convention to eliminate all election days except one in November, has been prepared by the suffrage committee and will be considered by the delegates tomorrow.

The modified proposal is designed to meet the objections of delegates who declared the proposal would eliminate primary elections.

The new proposal reads as follows:

"Regular and final elections to all offices created by this constitution, or which shall be established by law, shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November of each year, and at no other time. Special elections to fill vacancies in elective offices, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall be held on the day of the regular election."

"When a vacancy shall happen in an elective office and the unexpired term is less than fifteen months, the appointing power shall fill such vacancy by appointment. When the unexpired term is fifteen months or more, such vacancy shall be filled at a special election, to be held on day of first day next ensuing such vacancy, but a temporary appointment may be made, to expire upon the qualification of the person elected at such special election."

"All election days shall be legal holidays."

The convention today approved the report of the committee upon distinction between constitutional and legislative subjects. This report presented a number of proposals which it considered legislative in character, and recommended that a number of others pertaining to constitutional subjects be considered by the convention.

INDIANA DELEGATES
INSTRUCTED FOR WOOD

INDIANAPOLIS, May 12.—Harmony in the ranks of the Republican party in Indiana was the theme of the speeches delivered at the opening session of the Republican state convention here today.

That the party leaders in Indiana had reached an agreement and the foes of United States Senator James E. Watson had buried the hatchet, became apparent early in the day, when it was announced that E. M. Wasmuth had been unanimously re-elected state chairman.

It was also proclaimed later in the convention, when it was announced that Indiana's "big four," the delegates at large, would abide by the vote of the people and support General Wood, who having received a plurality in the recent presidential preference primary of the district.

Several of the districts contained woman delegates and many women were seated in the galleries and on the stage.

COMBINATION CONTROL
CANADIAN PRINT

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A combination of Canadian manufacturers practically controls the print paper market through the Canadian Export Paper, Limited, the senate committee investigating the paper shortage was told today by J. E. Gaffney, sales manager of the Interstate Pulp and Paper Company. He asserted that the combination controlled about 75 per cent of the domestic output and that the prices it set were followed by other manufacturers.

Victor F. Lawson, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, said his experience had been that the Canadian company prevented competition. The News, Mr. Lawson added, was virtually compelled to accept the company's terms in purchasing paper.

ISSUE WARRANTS FOR SUGAR PROFITEERS

CHICAGO, May 12.—Warrants were issued today by District Attorney Cline for the arrest of Theodore Bunte, president of a candy company bearing his name, and S. W. Boehm, secretary of the concern, charging them with violating the Lever act.

The warrants charge the candy company purchased 1,396,150 pounds of sugar from the Colonial Sugar Co., of New Orleans at 13 2-10 cents per pound and resold it at an average price of 29 4-10 cents, making a profit of $204,143.63.

RECOVER BODY

Cedar Rapids, May 12.—Searchers today pulled from the Cedar river the body of John Pechina, a Sinclair Packing Co. employee, who on May 11 left his coat, hat and a note on the river bank, stating he was about to drown himself because everyone was laughing at him. The body was found floating on the east side of the river, by Pechina's brother-in-law, who has been dragging for the body, since the man disappeared.

CONGESTION OF FREIGHT WORST SINCE WINTER 1917

Many Appeals for Relief Pouring Into Washington

RESULT OF LACK OF LABOR

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(By A. P.)—Congestion of freight in the principal railroad terminals, probably the worst since the hard winter of 1917, is beginning to be felt in the business and commerce over the country.

Appeals are pouring into Washington to the Interstate Commerce commission, the railroad administration and the railroad labor board, which picture the big railroad gateways choked with thousands of loaded freight cars, unable to move because of shortage of men and motive power.

Although the situation has been showing local effects for the last two weeks, it is now being shown in its nation wide aspects and the appeals for relief contain predictions that unless the jam is broken it will be reflected more than ever in decreased production, slowing down of industry and probably attempted labor turnover.

Latest reports compiled here by the committee on car service of the American railroad association whose purpose is to see that cars are shipped to sections in great need of them and keep them moving show 250,000 cars tied up or delayed in transit. Of this number 85,000 are at junctions, with no labor to transfer them. On April 16 the total number of cars tied up was 288,000. Much of this was attributed by railroad people to the recent strike.

There is pressing need today for $2.41 cars to take care of the most urgent demands, railroad men declare. They say this shows a reduction of approximately 10,000 over April reports.

Illustrating the imperative demand for coal, the car service committee was advised today that there was no coal at Saginaw, Mich., for the Saginaw Gasworks and orders were immediately issued to get coal there in a hurry.

Other cities sent similar appeals. The most serious conditions prevail at the gateways, blocked as seldom before with thousands of cars, mostly loaded with coal and foodstuffs.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The sub-scale committee of anthracite miners and operators before Secretary of Labor Wilson tonight resumed their discussions looking to an adjustment of demands for wage increases by the anthracite miners equal to increases recently granted bituminous miners.

The conference, which began yesterday after a week's intermission on account of the absence of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, was expected to move forward rapidly with the return of the mine workers chief to participation in the deliberations of the committee.

Memorial Day Proclamation

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 12.—The following memorial day proclamation was issued today by Governor Frank O. Lowden:

"Again with hearts united we approach our national memorial day. It has become a great occasion among our people for the expression of patriotic sentiment. The glowing pages of glorious history are again read. Over the grave of every American veteran flies the flag. The appearance in uniform of soldiers of three wars of the republic stirs the youth to increased love of country and stimulates their imagination to deeds of heroism and valor. The tender recollections of the honored dead inspire renewed devotion to the high ideals for which in the sunny south, in the islands of the sea or on Flanders fields they gave their all."

"In many homes there are lonely hearts because of the costly sacrifices made in the great war from which we have only recently emerged. In that war our people were united as never before in our history. Everything which tended to separate them into groups on account of race, religion, residence or rank was forgotten in the common desire to serve the interests of the country. Now again we find ourselves distracted by conflicting motives. The great wave of war-bred patriotism seems to have broken upon the rocks of selfishness. But this clash of opinions and interests must and will give way. The clear note of national spirit will soon be heard again above the present discordant sounds. Memorial day brings to the mind and heart of the people renewed recognition of a common heritage and a common obligation. Respect for its dead exalts a nation above selfish ambition and strife. Memorial day of 1920 might well be notable in our annals if it were possible to recapture that spirit of united loyalty and patriotism which characterized the world war."

"I urge that on the coming memorial day the citizens of Illinois with gratitude for the past and with faith in the future, renew their devotion to American ideals as with fragrant flowers they remember our patriotic dead."

(Signed)
"FRANK O. LOWDEN."

CHICAGO POLICE RUN DOWN MANY CLUES TO MURDER OF COLOSIMO

Officials Link Killing With the Slayers of Maurice Enright

CHICAGO, May 12.—While the police today sought clues to the identity of the man who killed "Big Jim" Colosimo, proprietor of a restaurant in the old tenderloin quarter, and known as the boss of the south side underworld, they linked the murder with the slaying of Maurice Enright, labor leader, and charged it to a gangland vendetta.

The state's attorney's office asserted that Colosimo was the custodian of a fund of $35,000 raised for the defense of Tim Murphy, Mike Carozzo and Vincenzo Cosmano, held in connection with the murder of Enright.

Of thirteen men held by the police after an all night foray thru the south side underworld, two were said to be brothers of Mrs. Morosco Colosimo, from whom the restaurant owner was divorced three weeks before his marriage to Dale Winters, a singer at his cafe. The whereabouts of Colosimo's first wife, for whom the police were said to be searching, remained a mystery. According to two men held by the police, she was seen in Chicago yesterday.

Mrs. Colosimo also was variously reported to be in Cuba, California and Salt Lake City.

Diamonds and other jewelry valued at $20,000 were found on Colosimo's body, eliminating robbery from the possible motives, the police believed.

The order affected 100 men at Jacksonville and seventy here. The financial condition of the road is given as the reason for closing the shops. Whether the shut down will be only temporary or will be permanent, has not been decided.

The order to close gives the employees five days notice to fulfill an agreement between them and the company.

RELIGIOUS ISSUE
BEFORE SOCIALISTS

NEW YORK, May 12.—"The religious issue" today plunged the national convention of the socialist party of America into a turmoil of excited debate, out of which conservative forces won the elimination of references to churches from the first half of the party's principles 1920 "declaration of principles."

Denounced as bad politics by Victor L. Berger, unsated U. S. representative from Wisconsin, a declaration that a privileged few in this country own the people's churches and "regulate their souls" was voted down by an overwhelming majority.

DYE STRAW HATS BLACK

Havana, May 12.—Straw hats, dyed black, are making their appearance here in rapidly increasing numbers in protest against the high prices being charged for that class of headwear. Hat dyers are doing a rushing business. Straw hats, both new and old, are being presented for their coating of black.

THREATENED STRIKE OF RAIL MEN CAUSES INTENSE EXCITEMENT

Report That 3,000 Engineers and Firemen at Pittsburgh Would Quit Proves False

PITTSBURGH, May 12.—Intense excitement was occasioned here tonight by the statement of men coming out of a widely advertised meeting of "Engineers and firemen" in the union labor temple that 3,000 engineers and firemen on the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroads would strike tomorrow morning. Railroad executives hearing the report at once prepared for any eventuality while declaring that no demands had been made on them and industrial heads were active. It was not until after midnight when the meeting adjourned that it became known that few engineers, and firemen of the roads named had been in attendance.

Arthur J. Lovell, representative of the Firemen and Engineemen union, said the following statement:

"I arrived here from Cleveland this afternoon and I am certain that no authorization had been given for taking a strike vote in Pittsburgh at the time I left the city. I did not authorize it after I reached here, and I would have known it if it had been authorized by anyone else empowered to do it."

It is possible that a strike vote was taken at the meeting, but I am inclined to think that the meeting was very largely made up of men who have been on strike for some time. I don't think it will change the situation in the least. In fact I don't believe the engineers and firemen want to strike. On the other hand I believe the trend is in the other direction. It all looks to me like inspired stuff, the end of a dying situation. The strikers have buried their bridges behind them, and are trying to bolster up the situation by just such things as this. They have worked it at points in the east where I have been recently and they are working it here."

General Trevino was accompanied only by his staff. He was commissioned by General Gaudin to attempt to save Carranza's life.

A possibility exists that Carranza left the train at Munos, just northwest of Apizaco and fled into the mountains of Puebla.

The occupation of the Mexico capital was effected with perfect order and there was no shooting in connection with the occupation.

Carranza government officials were forced to abandon the city when they learned that 40,000 revolutionist troops were marching on the town. Less than 10,000 troops at the capital are reported to have remained loyal to the Carranza government.

General Obregon, interviewed by the Associated Press representative at Tacubaya, a suburb of Mexico City, declared that Mexican revolutionist officers had been given orders to prevent bloodshed as far as possible. He said the liberal constitutionalists leaders plan to set up a government to be guided along constitutional methods. The rebel leader said it was also planned to hold free elections and to adopt a friendly policy towards the United States.

Reports from Washington.

Washington, May 12.—Reports of progress in the political organization of the new Mexican revolution were received here today but the situation of the deposed president, Carranza, remained undefined.

Dispatches from Vera Cruz said he was fighting off the revolutionists at a point near San Marcos about half way between the capital and Vera Cruz but no report, official or otherwise, came from Mexico City to contradict claims of revolutionary agents in the United States that he had been captured.

The last report received by the state department from the embassy at Mexico City was a report dated May 9, but communication by wireless has been established and instructions sent to the charge d'affaires to communicate fully. The dispatches received related to the flight of Carranza who was reported to have taken with him 27,000,000 pesos in government funds.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Kuis Cabrera, finance minister in Carranza's cabinet has reached the United States after departing from Mexico City secretly and without notifying President Carranza according to information received here today by radio from Mexico City via Sonora.

MEXICO CITY, May 10.—Via El Paso Jet by the A. P. May 12.—General Jacinto Trevino, left Mexico City Sunday night at 10 o'clock for Apizaco in the state of Puebla, saying he went to save the life of President Carranza.

The presidential train was reported surrounded by the forces of General Reyes Marquez. Fighting between the troops accompanying the fleeing president and revolutionary soldiers was reported as having been raging for some time. According to reports reaching here, three hundred Carranzistas had been already been killed.

It was feared here that the six hundred survivors in the Carranza party who were reported to have twenty machine guns would be overwhelmed and Carranza and other members of his administration, including several generals would become victims of their attackers.

Couriers arriving Sunday night from Puebla City brought the news that all trains carrying Carranza governmental officials were halted between Apam and Apizaco and that fighting was going on southeast of Apizaco.

All reports available here seemed to indicate General Guadalupe Sanchez, had joined the revolutionary movement, either occupying Vera Cruz or had surrounded that port. This would effectively block Carranza's escape by way of Vera Cruz should he succeed in reaching there.

General Trevino was accompanied only by his staff. He was commissioned by General Gaudin to attempt to save Carranza's life.

RECOGNITION FROM POLITICAL PARTIES IS ASKED BY FARMERS

Want Platform Makers to Embody Some of Their Principles

CHICAGO, May 12.—Recognition for farmers will be asked of the platform makers of each of the two great political parties at their June conventions by representatives of the various farm organizations of this country. This action was decided on today at the closing of the two day meeting of the National Board of Farm Organizations.

According to Charles A. Lyman, national secretary of the board, it was the general opinion of the delegates that the food producers of the country never had received the attention from the Republican or the Democratic party to which they were entitled. It was their purpose, he said, to send representatives to the Chicago and San Francisco conventions with demands that they be recognized in the formation of party platforms, and to throw the weight of their support at the November election to that party which gave the greatest consideration to the farmer in the party declaration of principles.

The main point which the farmers will insist on were outlined by R. D. Cooper, of Little Falls, N. Y. They follow:

The right of collective bargaining by agricultural interests, as set forth in the pending Capper-Norris bill.

Conservation of forests, with a view to keeping down the cost to consumers of print paper and lumber.

Payment of the war debt thru direct taxation "those best able to pay," meaning corporations and persons acquiring great wealth during the war.

Reduction of the high cost of living through elimination of the middleman.

Appointment of a secretary of agriculture who knows practical farm conditions.

Legislation against corporations and individuals acquiring great tracts of land, as a means of reducing farm tenancy.

Equal rights to corporations in transportation facilities.

Federal control of the packing industry.

Arrangements for more elastic credits for farmers.

Opposition to universal military training if such is to be made a plank of party platform.

BITTER DEBATE IN SENATE OVER KNOX RESOLUTION

President's Stand on Peace Treaty Plays Prominent Part

THOMAS ASSAILS WILSON

WASHINGTON, May 12.—"President Wilson's recent call to his party to stand 'four square' on the treaty issue in the campaign, played a prominent part today in the senate battle over the Republican peace resolution presented by Senator Knox. Criticism and defense of the president was voiced. Senator Thomas, democrat, Colorado, being among those who assailed Mr. Wilson's position, declaring a measure "dissolution" of the democratic party."

The Colorado senator was opposing the peace resolution but he took occasion to express resentment against the imputation which he declared the president placed upon senators who had voted or treaty reservations, that their action involved "dishonor."

Defending the president, Senator Hittchcock, of Nebraska, administrative spokesman, said the president in his telegram to Oregon democrats had "simply declared his devotion to the league of nations and denounced the Lodge reservations."

Senator Hittchcock charged that the republicans in their "outrageous delay" on the treaty, against the president had degenerated the peace resolution. Hittchcock declared, would not bring peace, but was futile in the certainty of an executive veto. It is a republican expedient, he said, adopted by "distracted" leaders and an unconstitutional attempt to effect peace regardless of the treaty. Involving "dishonor" to America.

Debate was confined to Senators Hittchcock and Thomas. Tomorrow addresses are planned by senators Kellogg, republican, Minn., and Pomerene, democrat, Ohio.

Negotiations took place today between republican and democratic leaders for a final vote tomorrow on the resolution. No agreement could be reached, but with the few speeches in prospect leaders thought the matter would be disposed of not later than Friday.

Senator Hittchcock argued that the president's delineation of his fourteen points entailed a "pledge" to support the league of nations plan.

Senator Thomas denied that any such obligation was binding and counter-charged that "pledges" made in the armistice had been violated by the president and the allies. He opposed a peace resolution, he said, because it transgresses executive authority.

"If the democratic party pledges itself at San Francisco to agree to no ratification of the treaty of Versailles it will do so because it doesn't want to live any longer and takes that means of making its dissolution known," Senator Thomas said.

ILLINOIS HOMOEOPATHY
ASSOCIATION MEETS

Chicago, May 12.—Prescriptions should be written in English instead of Latin, Dr. Annie Whitney Spencer, retiring president of the Illinois Homoeopathic association, said today at a meeting of the body.

"Patients have a right to know what they are taking," she said. "Parrotlike Latin and parrotlike prescriptions writing is farcical."

THE MOTTO IS ALL RIGHT

Wholesale grocers who have assembled for conference in St. Louis have the declared slogan of "Regard for the public welfare is the highest law." That is certainly an excellent public service motto for men who buy and sell essential commodities. If the wholesalers will live up to that motto, no complaints can be filed against them for profiteering.

AN HEIR TO MILLIONS

Captain Henry Field is interested in certain litigation affecting the estate of Marshall Field. The contents of Captain Field are sustained, he will soon come into possession of a residuary share of the Field estate, instead of receiving it when he has reached the age of 50 years. His lawyers state that if the will of Marshall Field stands, that the residuary share of the estate which Captain Field will receive at the age of 50 years would have a value of $200,000. Most every man who is outside the millionaire class is enough of a Socialist, radical or whatever you may choose to call him to believe that there is an error in legal or social conditions which make it possible for a man to inherit such an estate.

MONEY MAKING IS JUST A GAME

Mr. Straus, formerly a multi-millionaire, struck the right chord in philanthropy when he said recently: "When I see suffering Jew and Christian look just alike to me." Mr. Straus is referred to as a former millionaire, for he has succeeded in distributing for good causes all of his wealth except enough to provide a decent return for himself and wife during their remaining years.

The advice that philanthropists give usually sounds stilted or is marred by too much of self-approbation. Not so with Mr. Straus. He has found with passing years that the making of money is merely a game and that after the ordinary wants are provided for that money is really useless except as one may do good with it and so benefit society. Here's another pointed thought from the philosophy of life that Mr. Straus has worked out through the years. He said: There is an old Hebrew saying, 'What you give in health is gold; what you give in sickness is silver, and what you give after death is iron.'

St. Louis can never hope to lessen the gap between its population and that of Chicago, unless citizens get something of the Chicago "I Will" spirit. St. Louis voters have just turned down 13 out of 18 bond proposals, all of which meant projects looking to a greater city. In Chicago, recently, the people were strong for the big bond issue projects, and so a lot of forward work will be possible in the big Illinois metropolis.

SHOES

I priced a pair of shoes today; I asked the price and went away. The dealer begged, in frenzied tones, that I would hand him twenty bones, and clothe my hoofs in shining kid, as other gorgeous spendthrifts did. "Nay, nay," I said; "again, nay, nay! I'll fall for no such graft today. I will not pamper my old feet, and make them think they're cute and sweet. I roared them in a frugal way, and I won't let them get too gay. If they were shoes at such a price they'd soon be feeling too blamed nice, and they would look with high disdain on feet attired in leather plain." Then I went home and climbed the stair that leads up to the attic bare, where all the household junk's been thrown, for years whose number is not known. And there I found old shoes galore; a dozen pairs were on the floor, all lying in a straggling heap, thrown there in times when shoes were cheap. I had the cobbler fix the soles and sew a few unsightly holes, and now I've shoes enough, I wot, to last me till at last I'm shot. You see the moral very well: One way to beat the H. C. L.

DAMAGE CASE IN CIRCUIT COURT

Jury Still Out in Damage Case Brought by Martin Kenny Against Central Illinois Public Service Company—Court Orders

THE REGISTER IS "SEREN" THINGS

The Springfield Register makes a feeble editorial attempt to sow discord in the Republican party thru comment on the recent convention. The Register would have its readers believe that while Mayor Thompson was turned down by the convention, that he and his friends will enter the national convention armed to the teeth to knife Governor Lowden. The Register tries to show that while down-state Republicans voted with the governor in the convention, that they are now ready to desert him and to flock to the banner of the Chicago mayor.

All of which would be very important, if true. But those who are unbiased and who want to know the real facts are quite well aware that the Register editorial writer was merely dreaming and recording conditions that he wished were true—conditions which Jury trials were begun in the Morgan county circuit court yesterday with Judge Burton presiding. The first case tried was that of Martin Kenny against the Central Illinois Public Service Co., for trespass. This suit is based on an accident at Hillview several years ago when Mr. Kenny in company with Thomas Walsh, while driving in a car came into collision with a pole and wires belonging to the public service company. In a previous trial Mr. Walsh was awarded several hundred dollars damages on account of personal injuries and the case was taken to the supreme court by the company. Recently judgment in the lower court was affirmed. The suit of Mr. Kenny had been held up pending the supreme court decision in the Walsh case.

The jury which heard the evidence in this case included J. W. Taylor, Philip Hinners, C. W. Cull, Edgar Boston, J. H. Campbell, Fred Craven, L. P. Quinlan, C. W. Johnson, Henry Vortman Jr., E. N. Kitzer, W. H. Williamson and A. J. Ruble.

When the Journal went to press this morning the jury was still out.

Stock Case on Trial

Late in the afternoon the appeal case of Samuel M. Butler vs. Walker D. Hines and the Chicago & Alton railroad was called for trial. The complainant is represented by J. Marshall Miller and J. O. Priest and the railroad by Wilson & Butler. The suit is the result of a delay in the shipment of a car of stock which Mr. Butler claimed resulted in a considerable loss to him.

Other Cases

In the trespass suit of Lucretia C. Henry et al. vs. John Anderson, the demurrer by the defendant was overruled and leave given the plaintiff to plead by May 17. In the chancery suit of Ashford Ator against Frank E. Burbank et al. brought to quiet title, an order for distribution was rendered and approved. In the divorce suit of Orie E. Smith vs. Gladys Smith, a decree was rendered and the divorce granted on a statutory charge. In the divorce suit of Daniel Dillard, alias Daniel Carter, vs. Mollie Dillard, alias Mollie Carter, the decree was rendered and approved and the cause stricken.

OVER THE SPILLWAY.

Water was running over the spillway at Lake Mauvalster yesterday following the heavy rains. At one place on the Morgan and it was necessary for those who passed to drive thru several inches of water. Work has of course been stopped on the Vandalla road and there is no denying the fact that the Wednesday morning rain was one of the heaviest ever recorded locally.

WORK STOPPED ON FILTRATION PLANT

Rain Interfered With Progress—Grading for Switch Has Been Completed.

The heavy rain Tuesday night and Wednesday put a temporary end to work in connection with the filtration and power plants that has been progressing under the direction of Contractor Walbridge. About twenty men and fifteen teams have been in use. Water came pouring into the excavations and it will be some days before work can be resumed.

The fill for the switch track has been completed and all is now in readiness for the laying of rails and track by the railroad company. The switch is to be built on trestle work from the end of the present fill or embankment up to the power plant. The railroad company is to build the trestle work. Mr. Walbridge's contract provided only for the fill or roadbed up to the point at which present construction has reached.

A LETTER FROM ARKANSAS

The Journal's friend, Charles Hopper of the firm of Hopper & Son, has received from Howard Thompson a letter from which we are permitted to make some extracts. The letter is dated at Des Arc, Arkansas, May 5th. He says in part:

We have been in the midst of rain for several months with showers three to five days each week, but we have escaped the cyclone so far same as Jacksonville, but have had water all winter.

This is a fruit region and from one small station they expect to ship six hundred cars of strawberries. Laying is not high though corn is $2.50 a bushel and oats, $1.40.

Now I need a pair of every day shoes, not heavy as I am troubled with my feet. I am wearing occasionally a pair of shoes I bought of you in 1900. They are suitable for mountain climbing. Of course I have not worn them all the time but I do put them on occasionally and tell people what kind of shoes they sell me up north.

Although Mr. Thompson is 81 years old, he writes a plain hand with no indication of tremor. He is certainly well preserved and seems to be in fairly good health.

BUILDER AND CONTRACTOR

EXTENSIVE CHICKEN RAISERS

A short time since the Journal mentioned the sale by Fred Hanson of 370 baby chicks, but that was a small part of his business in that line. For some time he has been at work securing a fine strain of pure Single Comb White Leghorn fowls and feels he has succeeded. This is a laying breed and very desirable in many ways. Mr. Hanson has sold this spring to Henry Clark, living in the Hodges farm near Nichols park, sixteen hundred S. C. White Leghorn baby chicks and has a trifle of eight hundred left on his farm west of the city. Mr. Clark means to go into the chicken business on a large scale and the Journal hopes he will succeed. Generally in the west, men who have tried it have not had very satisfactory success, but Mr. Clark may profit by their experience. He means to supply them with ten acres of blue grass for a runway and in various ways do all he can for their welfare.

AN OLD TIME PLACE

In 1866 a well known and prominent resident of Jacksonville was roaming in Scott county between Winchester and the river and passed by a cross road where were a wagon shop and a place called by courtesy a store. The place went by the name of Bloomfield and the merchant carried mostly a little candy, chewing gum, "segars" while his chief stock in trade was a barrel of firewater from the Bob Pollock distillery near Exeter.

The liquor was dealt out in a tin cup and the proprietor wasn't very particular as to the quantity for it was before the days of internal revenue when whiskey was cheap and the pure article was generally dispensed.

The gentleman has not been at Bloomfield since, but says he is informed that it has grown somewhat and now boasts a very fair country store and some other enterprises.

Get the Genuine and Avoid Waste

The General All Around Cleaner

Have Color in Cheeks

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must keep your body free from poisonous wastes.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets (a vegetable compound mix) with olive oil act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effect. Take one night and note results.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually, 10c and 25c.

Run Down?

Kidney and bladder troubles are not limited to men. Housework, or work in office or factory, causes women to suffer from weak, overworked or diseased kidneys. The symptoms are—puffiness under the eyes, sallow skin, constant tired feeling, lack of ambition, nervous condition, backache, rheumatic pains, sore muscles, stiff joints.

Foley Kidney Pills

get right at the cause of suffering and misery, regulate the kidneys and bladder and restore the diseased organs to sound and healthy condition.

Mrs. Wm. Fischer, 2009 Woodbourne Ave., Louisville, Ky., writes: "I am just getting along fine. I am taking Foley Kidney Pills every other night. You should have seen me before I started. I was yellow as gold, now my eyes and skin are all cleared up. My kidneys do not bother me at night any more. If it will help some other poor soul who is suffering you may use my name wherever your medicine is advertised."

Sold Everywhere

Don't Be Deceived by the Word "Purity."

You hear, read or are told that this, that or the other toilet soap is made of pure ingredients. Maybe it is. But that's not enough.

You might make up a batch of jelly of pure grape juice—of pure sugar. But if those ingredients came in contact with impurities—they cease to be pure.

It is just the same with toilet soap. The manufacturers of Remmo Sterilized Toilet Soap seem to have found the final solution of positive soap purity.

Remmo Sterilized Toilet Soap—as many other Toilet Soaps—is made of the purest of soap ingredients. To protect those ingredients against all forms of impurities with which they might come in contact, the combined ingredients are sterilized at 198 degrees Fahrenheit.

Remmo Sterilized Toilet Soap possesses the only kind of purity that means anything at all to soap users—it is pure when used.

This positive soap purity quickly makes itself known in improved complexion beauty—a delightful skin coloring and velvety skin texture.

This extreme purity, high excellence of cleansing quality and precaution against impurity adds nothing to the cost of this Toilet Soap.

Remmo Sterilized Toilet Soap can be procured from your dealer at the same price asked for toilet soaps that cannot give you the same degree of purity or the same pleasing results.—Adv.

GIRLS—LADIES—WOMEN

It is said that nine out of ten females are diseased with Constipation—it's terrible. Constipation often results in pimply face, sallow color, bad breath, and mean disposition.

What It Means to Own a Velie

It means the satisfaction of KNOWING that you are driving the Authoritative Style—the Pattern Car of 1920—so acknowledged at the shows and in every big motoring center.

It means MORE POWER than you ever had in a light six before—MONEY SAVING power from the amazing new motor with the internally heated vaporizer burning low-grade fuel. Performance equaled by few, not excelled by any other car in the light six field.

It means the comfort of deep-titled, soft-plated, genuine leather upholstery—more conveniences—new ideas everywhere. Six models, open and closed, to choose from. A car for your need or preference.

"But even then Admiral Sims said that it had not been definitely decided on by the war council, though the daring and successful attack of Zebrugge came much later. It might have been a very different story if it had been undertaken earlier, when the navy department was urging some such bold plan."

Admiral Sims told the president he had been shown plans of the department's plan to prevent the egress of submarines, Mr. Daniels said, and that he considered the scheme impracticable.

"Instead of accepting the department's suggestions of great offensive plans," said Mr. Daniels, "or originating some plan that promised to stop the egress of German submarines, his mind was closed to the above and, as many other extracts show, to every plan looking to the great offensive which in the fall of 1918 was the most effective foe of the submarines."

Secretary Daniels said that the admiral's reply to the president suggested that the proper policy to pursue was to adopt the recommendations he had made to the navy department, most of which, the witness testified, had been put into operation before the admiral suggested them.

The naval secretary told the committee that Admiral Sims, in his reply, evidently had sought to discredit the navy department's suggestion of great offensive plans or "originating some plan that promised to stop the egress of German submarines."

Little Hope of Relief For Victims of Catarrh

Unless Old-Time, Obsolete Treatment is Discarded.

Doubtless during the mild summer months you have enjoyed relief from the disease, because there is always less inflammation of the membranes during the summer, but do not make the mistake of thinking that your Catarrh is gone, for the very first raw, damp, wintry day, the delicate linings of the membranes will begin to again become irritated and sore, the air passages will begin to clog up, and soon you will find that your old enemy is still with you, with a fiendish intention of making the winter as full of discomfort as ever.

What are you going to do about it? If you have had the disease for any length of time, the chances are that you have used enough local remedies to convince you that there is no cure for you in this method of treatment. Are you going to drag through another winter hacking and spitting and spraying constantly in an effort to unclog the stopped up air passages so that you can get your breath for awhile, knowing that these accumulations will immediately reappear—or are you going to discard this makeshift treatment and use a little intelligence in an effort to get rid of this disease that is such an annoyance and a constant handicap? You must accept the teachings of science, which shows that to get rid of any disease, you must treat it at its source, you must direct your efforts toward removing its cause, instead of being satisfied with slight temporary relief from its symptoms. You must root out from your blood the millions of tiny germs which cause Catarrh, so that there can be no more inflammation of the nose and throat, and choked up nasal passages, that make breathing difficult and painful.

S. S. S., the fine old blood remedy, has given splendid results in the treatment of Catarrh, and you will be delighted with its effect on your case. It so purifies and cleanses the blood, that disease germs are eradicated, hence when the germ of your Catarrh are eliminated from the blood, you are on the right road to a permanent ridance from the disease. Go to your drug store, and get a bottle of S. S. S. to day and begin the rational treatment that will give real results.

If you will write our medical department, we will take pleasure in giving instructions regarding the treatment of your own particular case. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 15 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

FARMERS' JOY IS TURNED TO GLOOM

Rainfall So Heavy That Spring Work on Farms is Again Delayed.

The joyful spirit that farmers had Tuesday over the rain was changed to gloom yesterday. They had too much of a good thing for the showers turned out to be a heavy downpour and as a result creeks are swollen, tiles running and the water standing in many fields. Conditions are such that farm work will be further delayed and in a great many fields it will be impossible to plow for nearly a week, even if there come days of steady sunshine.

The rain has further served to push up the corn market and dealers are now offering $2 a bushel. Notwithstanding the higher prices for corn the market for hogs is still descending. Local buyers were offering $14 a hundred yesterday and admit that this price is away off by comparison with the corn market. However, all local prices are based upon the markets in Chicago and St. Louis. As has been remarked before, under present conditions there seems to be no relationship between the price of hogs and corn.

THE LONG JOURNEY ENDS FOR CAPT. SWALES

War Veteran Passed Away After Months of Illness—A Notable Life Record.

Full of years and held in high esteem by countless friends, Capt. James M. Swales passed away Wednesday evening at his home, 422 South Clay avenue.

Capt. Swales sometimes talked about the final hours of his life and expressed the wish that when the summons came he would be found in the old home where he and the members of his family spent so many happy years. The wish was granted and after an extended stay at the home of his daughter in Chicago, Capt. Swales returned to Jacksonville last December. Since that time five months have slipped away and he has never left his room.

Many were the long time friends who called to see him there, friends who had known him from the stirring days of the Rebellion and others who in later years had come into a knowledge of the fitness of his character. It was a characteristic of the man that as his strength failed and the shadows grew longer, that he looked forward without timidity and with the assurance that comes only to those who "have fought a good fight and have finished the course."

Perhaps no phrase could better sum up the years of this citizen. To Capt. Swales life meant a struggle, a warfare, and with him it was always onward and upward. He was born in this city seventy-nine years ago last July. So it was given to him to spend nearly four score years in the one city save for the important period of the Civil war and the later days when he was custodian of Memorial hall in Springfield.

The home of Capt. Swales' parents was on South West street just a short distance south of Morgan street. The father's name was James Swales and he came here as a young man in the early '30s from Leeds, Yorkshire, England. The elder Swales was a man of worth while character but the home conditions did not make it easily possible to give the children much of an education. So the last who was destined to later be one of the most prominent and useful citizens of Jacksonville, had little school training. In fact, he was within school walls only three or four months of his entire life. But that fact merely delayed his education.

The School of Experience.
Some men are self-made. Capt. Swales was both self-made and self-educated. He read much, he traveled a good deal with passing time, he studied people and in later years gave evidence of a trained mind. As a writer he used a facile pen and had at his command a wealth of expression. He sometimes wrote of political affairs but more often memories of the war. A compilation of his war recollections would make a unique and valuable history of that great conflict.

When the war of the Rebellion came on he was a mere stripling, but the patriotism that characterized the whole of his long life was the dominating factor then. He enlisted with the first group of young men who went to the war from this county in August, 1861, and was in Co. A of the 10th regiment. He enlisted in the old court house which then stood in the public square and a few days afterward was sent on to Springfield.

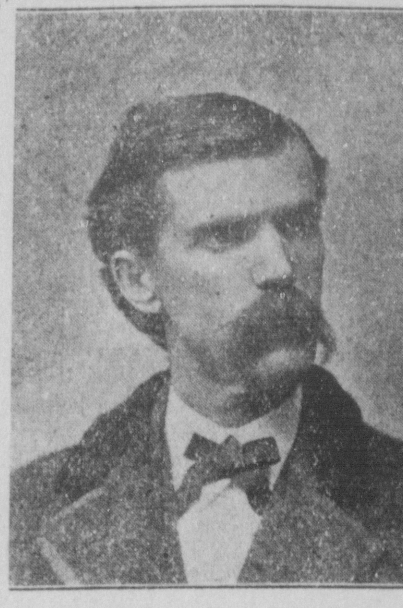

This regiment was one of the first six companies called out by President Lincoln, about one-half of the men coming from Jacksonville and one-half from Merced, California. They served first under Capt. M. F. Wood and went from Jacksonville direct to Cairo. There they did garrison duty guarding the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, then accounted a very important point. Following several months' service they went down the river to New Madrid, Mo., and afterward were taken up the Ohio to Tennessee and on to Shiloh. They had part in the memorable siege of Corinth, which culminated in May, 1862, the regiment being the first to reach that point.

The Nashville Campaign.
From Corinth they entered upon the Nashville campaign which ran from the September of 1862 until the following spring. Their activities were with the army of the Cumberland all about Chattanooga, Chickamauga Park and other points throughout until the fall of '63. Then they had a conspicuous part in the battle of Missionary Ridge and Lookout Mountain, one of the most notable in military history, coming to its victorious close for the union on Nov. 24, 1863.

There the regiment was hurried forward to the relief of Burnside at Knoxville. The men were in rags and tatters. The weather was extremely cold. They were so poorly shod that the roads were often marked with blood from the foot-sore, half-shod soldiers. It was Valley Forge over again, but the spirit of the men was undaunted. They returned to Rossville, Ga., in January, 1864, and then shortly afterward, having thus completed the term of their three-year enlistment, re-enlisted for the war. The troops were returned to Rossville and prepared for the Atlanta campaign, which began in June, 1864. There was one battle after another which carried the troops clear up to the gates of Atlanta, and as old soldiers have often said, "hell was popping in those days."

The Horrors of Andersonville.
About August 4, 1864, the fighting days of Captain Swales came to a sudden end as he and about fifty of his comrades, while on scouting duty, were captured by the boys in gray. The soldier was at that time a first sergeant. The day following the men, loaded as passengers into cattle cars, were taken to Andersonville. The camp was always been drawn as to the exact happenings of the nine months during which Captain Swales was a prisoner in that terrible stockade, subject to the barbarity of Captain Henry Wirz, in charge of the prison.

Captain Swales disliked to talk about those days or to recall the exact happenings. There was too much of horror about it all. The suffering and the dreariness and darkness of those days constitute memories that Captain Swales had been all the years trying in vain to crowd out.

As a prisoner, he entered the stockade weighing 185 pounds, and when he was released a few days following the assassination of President Lincoln and taken to Macon, Ga., he weighed 72 pounds. The starved, broken soldier was a mere shadow of his former self, but his spirit was unchanged, and so he found genuine satisfaction in viewing Jefferson Davis a prisoner at Macon, Ga. Then, a few days later, at Washington, the soldier had the great pleasure of watching the grand review—and there has been no more sublime spectacle in the national capital.

Shortly afterward Capt. Swales was sent to Benton Barracks at St. Louis, then to Springfield, where he received his discharge. After regaining his health, Capt. Swales for five years served in the Illinois National Guard, one of his comrades in the organization being Major C. E. McDougall. After a period of rest and recuperation Capt. Swales learned the trade of printer at the old Journal office on North Main street, Smith & Ironmonger being the proprietors. For 35 years he worked at this trade, at one time or another being associated with practically every newspaper in Jacksonville.

Framed Monument Bill

It was Capt. Swales who was responsible for the framing and passage of the bill providing for the erection of a monument at Andersonville and very appropriately Governor Deneen appointed him one of the commissioners to represent the state when the monument was dedicated five years ago. For 12 years Capt. Swales, by appointment of Governor Yates, was in charge of Memorial hall at Springfield. The record he made gave ample proof that there was no mistake when he was selected from a list of 1245 applicants for the position.

Capt. Swales was a member of Urania Lodge, I. O. O. F., and of Central Christian church. He had long been associated with Matt Star post G. A. R., and had served as commander and held other offices in the post.

Just about two years ago he was elected a member of the Morgan county board and as long as his health would permit filled the duties of his office with loyalty and devotion. He was actively interested in the soldiers' monument here in Morgan county and his name adds another, to the lengthening list of veterans who did not live to see his hope realized and the completed monument adorning Central Park.

A Good Record
By no means all the facts in a life as long and eventful as that of Capt. Swales can be given in a brief newspaper article. The years he spent on earth were good and useful years. He was a valued citizen of the community. He helped good causes. He sought right paths and followed them. No one that he has passed on, he has bequeathed to his family a proud and untarnished name, a heritage that cannot be dissipated thru the years to come.

Capt. Swales was married to Miss Mary Higbee, at White Hall, in 1879. Mrs. Swales died in August, 1914. Surviving are one daughter and one son, Mrs. John L. Freeman, of Chicago, and Dr. W. O. Swales, of this city, who have joined in the devoted care of their father. He leaves, also, two brothers, David E. Swales and George W. Swales, of this city.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Central Christian church.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PROGRAM.
A Sunday school entertainment will be given Friday evening at 7:45 in Westminster church. The boys of Mrs. James Gunn's class and the girls of Miss Gilbert's class will give the program which will include a one act comedy. There will be music by a large band. The boys and girls and their friends are expecting a high class entertainment. The class members are selling tickets.

THE CIVIC PRIDE LEAGUE.

Captains and workers of the Civic Pride league are requested to meet in the council chamber at the city hall this afternoon at 4 o'clock. This meeting has been called for conference and to complete the organization plans for the work of the league which is to make Jacksonville a cleaner and healthier city.

Mrs. Keith Montgomery and Mrs. John W. Clary, Directors.
